These Commercial Specialists are your U.S. representatives and business advocates in their host countries. They can discuss the current market situation, export issues important to your firm, and export opportunities in their respective markets. If you are already exporting, International Trade Specialists are also available to work with you to find additional partners, new markets and/or increase your market share.

If you cannot personally attend, please make sure your export and/or international department(s) is aware of this value-added service.
